

COUNCIL CONSIDERS DEVELOPMENT OF WATER SUPPLY

Growth and development of the city of Upland is taxing the present domestic water supply and although the condition at present is not serious, Mayor Buffington and members of the city council are preparing a proposition which may be presented to the voters in the near future.

By way of preparation the city council last night employed Geo. S. Hinckley, city engineer of Redlands, to investigate water bearing lands to the north and west of the city as well as the wells, water rights and distributing systems of the Ocean View Land & Water Company and the Citizens Land & Water Company.

Geo. S. Hinckley, although well known by several men here, stands high in his home town as well as the entire east end of the county as an engineer of ability, specially versed in the practical side of water development and delivery to the consumer. In Redlands Mr. Hinckley built one of the most complete and efficient water systems in the south and it was because of his work there that the city council asked Mr. Hinckley to become advisory engineer on the water project here.

Whether or not the city council will present to voters the plan of a municipal domestic water system and ask for a bond issue, all depends on Mr. Hinckley's report which he will start work on next Tuesday morning when he and the city council will make the first trip of inspection.

With many new homes being erected here each year and with the population increasing every year, the council finds it necessary to prepare for greater things. The present condition is not serious, but at the present rate of growth a greater water supply must be developed within the next five years and the council desires to learn whether or not the city can develop more water and at the same time deliver to consumers at a rate not to exceed the present rate charged by companies now privately owned.

Contract Let

Contractor W. C. Jones was the successful bidder for the erection of Upland's police headquarters at the council meeting last night, the building to be erected on Second avenue, on which the city jail now stands. Mr. Jones' bid was $3,800.00. Bid of the Modern Construction Co., was $4,200.00. Campbell Construction Co., bid was $4,293. The building will be completed within ninety days.

Mr. Avery of the Upland Hotel desires to remodel the dining room of the Upland Hotel into two apartments. The fire committee of the council is to make recommendations.

ORANGE SHOW TO OPEN DOORS TODAY

At 7:30 o'clock tonight President J. B. Gill will officially open the gates of the Thirteenth National Orange Show to the thousands of waiting Californians and eastern tourists, who began flocking to the Gate City yesterday.

The opening program bids fair to be the most pretentious ever given in the history of the exposition. While final arrangements had not been completed last night, it is expected that both Governor Friend W. Richardson and President William Sproule of the Southern Pacific will be present for tonight's program.

The gates opened to the public for the first time at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, when hundreds, who have been waiting for their first glimpse of the seven millions of oranges set amid the mottled Moorish arches, will take advantage of the preview offer of the management.

Program Will Start at 7:30
Tonight's program will start at 7:30 o'clock when Arthur J. Brown, entertainment chairman of the Orange Show Board, will introduce President J. B. Gill from the band stand in the citrus tent.

President Gill will officially open the Thirteenth National Orange Show with an address welcoming all present to share in the fullest enjoyment of the eleven gala days.

Word from Governor Richardson yesterday was to the effect that he would present the public his desert inspection trips of the Needles and Mecca highways and the conference in Riverside following them are completed in time for the show opening tonight.

Saturday is Governor's Day at the exposition, and Governor Richardson will visit the show following the banquet of the Southern California Editorial Association, at which he will be the principal speaker.

President Sproule of the Southern Pacific Railroad, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday. As soon as word of his arrival was received, Manager R. H. Mack had extended an official invitation for him to attend the opening of the show this evening.

Exhibitors to Give Talks
Following talks by the guests of honor, President Gill will call on some of the larger exhibitors to speak briefly. Among these will be Bruce W. McDaniel, of the Mutual Orange Distributors; T. E. Anderson, of the American Fruit Growers; A. E. Isham, of the Redlands Chamber of Commerce; George L. Stensgaard, of Bloomington; Charles Bayer, of the San Gabriel Valley Chamber of Commerce, and others.

Assurance that everything would be in readiness for the show opening today was made by the persons in charge of each of the feature exhibits last night.

A crew of more than 500 workmen were kept busy all night in order to have everything completed today.

FUMIGATION CO. IN ANNUAL ELECTION

Members of the Co-operative Fumigation Supply Company, in annual session Thursday, re-elected the former board of directors numbering George G. Laidlaw, T. W. Nisbet, George Hall, T. R. Woodbridge, C. C. Graber, E. R. Alter, J. R. Johnson, T. J. Cromer and L. E. Moser.

The board organized with Mr. Laidlaw, president; Mr. Nisbet, vice-president; and F. M. Scott, secretary-treasurer and manager. Named on the executive and auditing committee were Mr. Laidlaw, Mr. Nisbet and Mr. Hall. The members voted to amend the by-laws of the organization so that the payment of no interest on stock will be required in the future, thus making the company a strictly non-profit organization.

An interesting feature of the meeting was an address by R. S. Woodrum, scale expert of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, under whose directions the local fumigation concern operates. He spoke at length on methods of scale control.

Members also witnessed the demonstration of a new automobile gas-generating machine.

Lord Babbington was instructing a new colored servant in his duties, adding, "Now, Zeke, when I ring for you, you must answer me by saying, 'My lord, what will you have?'"

A few hours afterward, having occasion to summon the servant, his lordship was astonished with the following: "My Gawd, what does you want now?"

HOOTCH WOULD NOT STAY IN THE VAULT

San Dimas officers arrested three Mexicans the other day for conducting a distillery and after they had made the arrests they had neither a place to put the Mexicans nor the liquor.

The Mexicans were finally placed in the Pomona jail, and as a San Dimas Bank conducted a safety deposit vault business, the hootch was placed in the vault of the bank.

The Mexicans failed to get away but the hootch ran away in spite of its being in a vault. Within a short time after the booze was supposedly safely locked up in the vault, a peculiar odor filled the lobby of the bank. Thirsty souls entering the bank winked knowingly, but the innocent cashier didn't register.

Finally a more bold depositor asked where they were serving the drinks and investigation led to the discovery that one of the booze containers had sprung a leak.

PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM NEAR EAST

Personal word came direct to members of the Upland Rotary this noon at the weekly luncheon from the Near East and of Raymond Moremen, when Ralph Harlow who has been in the Near East for many years, presented facts of the conditions there and told many horrifying details of the wars and massacres.

Mr. Harlow told of the excellent work of one of Upland's own boys, Raymond Moremen, and of his devotion to the work and on how Mr. Moremen risked his own life to save the orphans in the school over which he had been placed in charge.

Mr. Harlow states that in spite of all, people of the Near East still look to America to assist them in their time of trouble and are hoping that relief will come soon.

"SKIN DEEP" TO BE LEGION BENEFIT

Next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the Colonial Theatre will have three special shows devoted to the American, Upland Post No. 73, when Peter B. Kyne's story, "Skin Deep" will be shown. The proceeds will be shown by the Upland Post for Civil Service work and the Ladies' Auxiliary and a number of the women's organizations are co-operating in the sale of tickets.

The local post is endeavoring to carry on its work, not by soliciting funds outright, but rather by giving the people something for their money, and the boys put their efforts into each event hoping that there may be sufficient profit remaining to conduct their work. To this end the support of the people of the city is asked.

A. M. Fielding has recommended "Skin Deep" as one of the best film productions produced in the past several months, and members of the Legion believe the production will be one of the events of the season. Tickets will be found on sale at Mac the Medicine Man's, Colonial theatre, Brady's Drug Store and members of the Legion will also supply you.

CHARGE MODEL HUBBY IS BIGAMIST

A year ago Frank Davis of Rialto took unto himself a wife and his marriage to Miss Nancy McManis last June was one of the social events of the year. Davis proved to be an ideal citizen, a model husband and a credit to the community in which he lived. Last week he received a promotion and was just getting an insight into his new position with the Hammond Lumber Company at Pomona when he was arrested for bigamy.

Over at Riverside, twelve miles from Rialto, lived Mrs. Davis No. 1. Woman's place may be in the home but her daughter's place seems to be in the auto.

FRIDAY, SATURDAY OF NEXT WEEK GREAT SALES DAYS

Preparations are complete for the February Community Sales Day to be held here Friday and Saturday, February 23, and 24, under the direction of the Upland Business Men's Association.

Practically the same plan is to be followed in this sale as was followed during the last sale. In Tuesday's edition of the Upland News a four-page section will be devoted entirely to the sale, presenting therein not only the bargains offered that day but the respective business houses, but the prizes to be awarded by the local merchants.

Every visitor to the business houses Friday and Saturday will receive a ticket at each business house, the duplicate of the ticket to be placed in a sealed box. At three o'clock Saturday afternoon those business houses giving prizes will hold their individual drawings, and at seven o'clock the remaining tickets are to be brought to the Upland News office at which time the feature prize of the day will be awarded to the holder of the lucky number.

Twenty-five dollars in gold is to be the main prize which is offered by The Upland News to the holder of the lucky number. Be sure to retain your tickets.

MOTORIST IS GLAD HE WAS ARRESTED

Once in a while there's a motorist who is glad he was arrested and fined here, but it doesn't happen very often.

A resident of Upland was in Los Angeles the other day and when she was introduced to a man who learned she was from Upland, told of his arrest here changing his plans.

It seems that this man and his family were en route to Denver by automobile and he was arrested by Officer Kronmeyer for crossing Mountain Avenue at too fast a speed. After paying his fine here his wife endeavored to persuade him to remain in California, but he remained determined to return until he reached San Bernardino, where he turned about face and went back to Los Angeles.

Although the first few months of his stay in Los Angeles had been unsatisfactory, soon after his return there after his arrest in Upland, everything went fine with him and he's always been glad that he was arrested here, because it was the turning point in his affairs.

This man is certainly one in a million says Officer Kronmeyer.

MISSION PLAY SETS RECORD

Two thousand performances! This will be the record of the Mission Play at Old San Gabriel on Washington's Birthday. It is the world's record. No other play in the history of the drama anywhere in the world has equalled it.

There will be a huge crowd at San Gabriel on this historic occasion, and it will be something to remember. People from all parts of Southern California will motor to the Old Mission town if only to be able to say that they were present at the performance which broke the world's record.

The Mission Play is now in its twelfth year and is being attended by the largest audiences in its history. It grows more attractive and appealing with the passage of time, and it is more beautiful now in every way than it ever was before.

The man who wins is the one whose head is a parking place for ideas and not a mere rendezvous for hair.

ESCAPES HOLD-UP BY BURST OF SPEED

C. M. Sheets, well-known here, was staged in the leading role as the man held up by highwaymen over near Redlands the other day. Sheets rushed to the police station and told the officers all about it, and on the station blotter the next morning the chief of police found the following:

"One C. M. Sheets appeared at the police station about 10 p.m. and reported that one John Doe had made an attempt to hold him up at Lugonia and Orange, and that he, C. M. Sheets, did step on the gas and beat it away from there, mufy promptly and no fooling. And that said John Doe did fire one shot at the fleeing car of Mr. Sheets. Officers Thomas and Davis did make a quick run to scene of holdup but no John Doe could be found. Officer Henry Crain did also appear later. That's all."

POULTRY LECTURE AT MANN RANCH

Assistant Farm Advisor Campbell of San Bernardino Agricultural Extension Service, who was in Upland yesterday, announced that a meeting on Poultry Brooding will be held on Friday, Feb. 23rd, at two o'clock, at the residence of D. B. Mann, fourth house east of Campus avenue on Sixth street, Ontario, at which Professor W. E. Newlon, poultry extension specialist from the University of California will give a helpful instructive talk.

Everyone interested in poultry is urged to attend this meeting. Mr. Mann is using the University type laying house for a brooder, and visitors are cordially invited to inspect it next Friday.

Professor Newlon will be remembered as having given poultry culling demonstrations, and also talking on feeding and housing in this district during the past few months, and his talks are of the greatest value to all interested in poultry raising.

THINKS RIDE WORTH AN EVEN THOUSAND

It's worth $1,000 cold cash to take a wild, wild ride with R. E. Parr, San Bernardino accountant, ending in a motor smashup when a corner was attempted at "more than 35 miles an hour," J. P. Dunlap, Los Angeles special accountant in the employ of Parr, declared in a complaint filed today in the Superior Court.

The wild, wild ride was taken Jan. 23, Dunlap asserted, and he says that the effects have not worn off yet. Nervous prostration was almost induced by the aftermath of his "free transportation," he stated.

Dunlap was invited by Parr to accompany him to Los Angeles, the complaint avers. Dunlap had previously been employed by Parr to do accounting work with the stipulation that transportation would be free.

Says Speed Limit Broken
They left San Bernardino on the Foothill Boulevard, and then Parr's foot began to weight upon the throttle, for, according to the court document, they "broke the speed limit and went at an unlawful rate." For twenty miles they drove that way, Dunlap asserts. During this time he constantly begged Parr to slow down.

One-half mile east of the Cucamonga station on the Foothill Boulevard, still going "over 35 miles an hour," Parr is declared to have wrecked his machine.

"It swerved into a stone wall at an intersection," the complaint avers. The car was completely wrecked. Dunlap had his eye-glasses smashed. His other injuries were described as:

He Had Bad Dreams

A contusion of the right shoulder. An abrasion two inches long on anterior surface of each tibia, below the knee.

And the necessary hypodermic injections of morphine in a local hospital to keep him quiet. He couldn't sleep because of dreams of the ride.

Attorney Walter L. Case of Los Angeles represents Dunlap. He asks just $1,000.

Murderesses should remember that the more men they kill the more places on the jury will be filled by women.—Washington Post.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR SHOWN AT ANNUAL

Five hundred people from every corner of the west end of San Bernardino County gathered last night in the Home Economics Building at Chaffey Union High School to attend the annual jubilee and business meeting of the Chaffey Community Boy and Scout, Y. M. C. A. and Girl Scout organizations.

And a most satisfactory meeting it proved for the attendance showed very plainly that the people of Chaffey Community are interested in building well its younger generation. Foremost on the program was the dinner, which was served promptly and efficiently by a bevy of girls of the Domestic Science Class at Chaffey, under the supervision of Miss Lillian Graves. Each community was seated at tables labeled with the name of the town, and which were decorated very prettily with smilax.

Music by an unique quartette, the Hicks from Hickville, delighted the audience during the dinner hour and the Girl Scouts gave several songs which were appreciated, as was also the Campfire Girls of the Wah Wah Camp and their guardian, Miss Aurelia Harwood, who gave one of their ceremonials in costume.

The program of the evening was under the direction of T. W. Nisbet, who introduced Mrs. William Laidlaw. Her speech of welcome was most cordial, and she impressed on everyone the necessity of linking up with some organization which had for its purpose the training of the boys and girls of today.

The next speaker was Harry Hill, State Y. M. C. A. Secretary, the guest of the evening. He said that the increasing interest in boys' work was most encouraging and that the country's greatest asset was its boys and girls. Miss Clara Hissell, who is leader of the Community Girls' Work, asked for cooperation in all branches of the work, scouts, reserves, campfire and Y. W. C. A., and in every word showed her enthusiasm for the work she has taken up in the Chaffey district.

A most interesting talk was given by Y. M. C. A. Secretary, C. W. Alford. He spoke of the deficiency in the financial budget with which the committee had to start last year's work, and how by courage and faith they forged ahead and overcame obstacles, making a good record for the year. He expressed keen appreciation of the help given by the people of the community. There are seven hundred boys in Boy Scout organizations under his jurisdiction, and approximately $5.00 a year is what is spent on each one. From 7 to 8 is the devil's hour among growing boys, and if the scout leaders can take care of them during the early part of the evening much rough-housing is saved. "Imagine," said Mr. Alford, "those 700 boys turned loose among our towns here for one hour in the evening. It doesn't require much imagination to think of what mischief they could get into."

More than $5.00 worth in the one night, and the $5.00 was spent on each lad protects them for a whole year." Out of the 5,500 waking hours in a boy's life in the year, 1,500 are spent eating and at home, 1,200 at school and 1,000 at church, the rest has to be spent either in constructive or destructive work, and that is what the Scouts and Y. M. C. A. plan to attend to.

C. W. Hadden, superintendent of the Ontario City Schools and a Rotarian, presented a flag to Mr. Alford from the Ontario Rotary Club, and Crombie Allen, president of the Club, gave a very humorous speech.

P. H. McQuillan, president of the Upland Rotarians, gave a good talk, assuring those present that the Rotary Club was heart and soul behind any project for the benefit of the boys.

Reports were given by Geo. B. Harding, Secretary, and F. M. Watcough, the latter said $5,000 was asked for and Ontario pledged $3,000 and Upland $1,800 immediately, while pledges from other localities brought the amount up to $5,800 with several other communities yet to hear from.

Directors of the Upland Y. M. C. A. for the coming year are: E. C. Harwood, G. A. Hanson, C. E. Moser, E. W. Thayer, O. E. Atwood, and those on the Community Y and Boy Scouts are: J. W. Bryden, Kenneth I. Hanson, R. C. Stone, E. W. Fischer, T. W. Nisbet and E. C. Harwood, being school trustees, are ex-officio members of the local board.

CONDITIONS IN NEAR EAST TOLD BY RAY MOREMEN

International College,
Smyrna, Turkey,
January 20, 1923.

Greetings to My Home Communities: Events have tumbled so rapidly on each other it hardly seems possible that soon it will be five months since the first refugee train arrived in Smyrna. The sight of those terror-stricken people fleeing from the destruction of war that was fast sweeping down upon them made a memorable impression on me. Surrounded by misery, wretchedness and need; anticipating even darker probabilities for the future, I thought of home and believed you would want to help. I called. The immediacy and magnanimity of your response to that appeal is a tribute to America and particularly to the communities of Upland and Ontario. The contribution was doubly important because it met the emergency. It was supplying needs in month and a half before the Red Cross was in a position to do the least effective work. I believe that no man feels prouder of his communities than I do. Neither I nor the Relief Committee are able to thank you adequately for the generous and wholehearted assistance in that great emergency. On behalf of the grateful recipients of your gift I do say, "Thank you, thank you."

A large part of the funds I personally spent for refugee work in Saloniki, where as representative of the Anglo-American Relief Committee I had charge of a camp of seven thousand people. When I left Saloniki more than a month ago to return to Smyrna, I entrusted to the chairman of the committee, Mr. Amos, the further administration of a portion of the money. I have devoted five hundred dollars for work in Turkey; part of it going to buy underwear, overcoats and shoes for former students of the International College, now prisoners of war in various parts of Turkey; part of it for buy blankets for orphan children in Turkey. I am keeping a small reserve upon which I may draw in case of emergency. As soon as I receive a final report from Mr. Amos in Saloniki, I shall submit a complete report for your approval.

I would like to tell you briefly of some of the experiences I have had. The first opportunity for service presented itself when I saw the women, children and no end of babies packed tight in cattle trains, either in the open cars where they were exposed to the burning rays of the sun, or in the closed cars where the air was stifling and suffocating. A group of us fellows met every train, day and night, with plenty of drinking water. As the hands of those poor, sad people reached out for a cup of cold water I scanned their faces and saw the anguish of their souls. I never had dreamt of such a World of Woe. The slow and sorrowful trains kept coming.

In the meantime there was formed The American Smyrna Disaster Relief Committee, to which I urgently offered my service. Finally I was informed that the committee wished me to go to the Greek orphanage in Boudja, a suburb about four miles out of Smyrna. On the afternoon of the third of September, I was welcomed by the youngsters and raised an American flag over each of the four gates admitting entrance to the estate.

I had previously arranged with the American officer who was stationed with about twenty sailors at the International College, two miles away, to signal to him in case of danger. We arranged to have a trial signal the first night at nine o'clock. Getting up on the highest part of the orphanage building, I waved back and forth a lighted torch that had been dipped in kerosene and fastened on the end of a long stick. There was no answer. I tried once more, then getting no reply and not wishing to attract attention, I gave it up. The next day I tried a mirror signal to the man who was supposed to be constantly in the tower, but again without success. I knew then that it was useless to depend on outside help in case of need.

This property was rather conspicuous in the eyes of the Turks owing to the fact that formerly it had been offered to Venezuela, by a group of patriotic Greeks, as a private home. Venezuela accepted it, but immediately presented it for the use of the orphanage. Among the rather frequent and important visitors was Mustafa Kemal Pascha. He called on the afternoon of the thirteenth, stayed about ten minutes, and asked such questions as the following: "How many orphans have you here?" "Three hundred and fifteen." "I answered: "How many other refugees have you?" "About two hundred." "How many men are there?" "About forty." "Are there any Greek soldiers among them?" "Not that I am aware of, sir." "Have you any weapons?" "Yes, sir; we have about twenty guns." (I still have mine). "Why have you weapons?" "To protect the children, sir." "I had come out to meet Kemal with my revolver in my hand; one of the accompanying Turkish officers suggested that that was not the proper way to greet.

We Like A Man Who Likes His Job

MANY people are still bawling the fact that Mr. Hoover wouldn't resign as Secretary of Commerce in order to become Secretary of the Interior. They argue that a big man ought to have a big job, and that the Interior is a bigger portfolio than Commerce.

We are not so sure of that. We have a distinct idea that any job Herbert Hoover sees fit to tackle is likely to become a big job before he gets through with it. Moreover, it is refreshing to find a Cabinet officer who refuses to be tempted away from an unfinished piece of work by the lure of newer and higher honors. There was entirely too much jumping about from one Cabinet berth to another in the last Administration. If Hoover thinks it best to stick at his present work, for we one will take his judgment. —Collier's Weekly.

Co-Operative Marketing

IN every part of the country people are learning the lesson of co-operative marketing. Georgia is learning the lesson of this sane and progressive kind of marketing wisely and well. Every day the people of this state are drawing nearer and nearer to a perfect realization of the things that will come to pass by the enforcement of the right methods of progress.

This fine co-operative marketing idea, as applied to cotton, has produced very fine results in Georgia. Watermelons have been put on a better business basis because of co-operative marketing, and the peanut growers are obtaining excellent results.

The Georgia farmers are accomplishing much in the raising of peanuts. In Cochran, Georgia, last week, peanuts sold as high as $107.00 per ton.

California is leading the country in co-operative marketing. There are twenty-five distinct state-wide marketing associations in this state; others are being organized.

This great question deserves to be carefully studied by all who are interested in real progress along agricultural lines.

Proper organization of various agricultural products into co-operative marketing associations in this state will mean a very rich degree of prosperity. It is something worth thinking about. —Chino Champion.

Paving Problem Is National

THE western half of the United States, in proportion to its wealth and population, has laid more and better paved streets and highways than the eastern half of the same area. The state of California alone has spent $70,000,000 on paved roads and after many experiments a government report shows that it has turned almost to asphalt and asphaltic concrete.

From 1894 to December 1, 1922, 314,416,138 square feet of asphalt roads have been constructed in the state of California alone. If this area of paving were laid in one strip, 16 feet wide, it would provide a highway 3700 miles in length. Of this total, 123,545,995 square feet, or over 1462 miles, are asphaltic concrete base and surface.

Only recently the highway commission called for alternative bids on five-inch asphaltic concrete, to be laid in two courses, and five-inch re-inforced hydraulic concrete, 1-2-4 mix, in Marin and Sonoma.

The bid for asphaltic concrete was about $5,000 per mile less than that for hydraulic concrete, and a contract was awarded for asphaltic concrete construction.

Where asphaltic concrete wins out over re-inforced hydraulic concrete by $5,000 a mile less it should teach road officials that solid concrete roads are possible only where facts and experience are totally disregarded.

The Seeds of Friendship

SOME men are optimistic, hopeful, sympathetic, and progressive for the simple reason that this is the kind of food their minds feed upon.

Some individuals are pessimistic, timid, suspicious, and non-progressive because they reflect the atmosphere in which they live, and express the thoughts which they constantly entertain.

If we want people to be interested in us and in our business we must be interested in them and their affairs.

If we expect friends and happiness and prosperity in the garden of life we must plant the seeds of friendship and good deeds and square dealing, and not be sparing of the milk of human kindness, the cream of courtesy, and the sugar of smiles and good-natured laughter.

The merchant who feels "above" his customers, who exhibits snobbishness, intolerance, or any other form of discourtesy is the one who loses out rapidly, and usually ends by being a lonely failure.

It is much better to have a thorough understanding in the beginning than misunderstandings and complications at the time of settlement of a customer's account.

Cure Worse Than Disease

SOME doctors seem to have a hard time of it when they break away from materia medica and follow new paths of healing.

But the patient often has a much harder time, as witness the case of a New York business man who suffered a nervous breakdown as a result of financial worries. He was advised to see his first picture show, never having had time to do so before his illness. And the news report says that his neighbor in the darkened place picked his pocket of $42. Whether or not the physician had the heart to send in his bill may be left to the imagination of the reader. —Bakersfield Californian.

Achievement

IF all the champions in which this country justly takes pride, none is more worthy of general esteem than Miss Margaret Madde, of Lewistown, Pennsylvania, whose 63 years of service as a teacher have just been interrupted by a fall. In the time she has presided over classrooms several thousand pupils have come under her influence.

Think of the worth as a citizen that this little old lady has shown! She, like the others in her profession, is kindly remembered by those she has taught, but how far short of an ample reward has the community fallen.

Nor is she the only one deserving. Miss Jenny Bull, of Massachusetts, has just resigned voluntarily on the completion of 51 years as a teacher. The work of instructing children is not sensational; it does not gain glaring headlines, and there are not fat contracts awaiting even the star performers.

Yet, in a way, there is compensation. How many of us could truly say we have influenced 3,000 or 4,000 persons greatly, have made better men and women of them, have directed their footsteps into the best ways? For the school teacher imparts more than a knowledge of geography and arithmetic to her pupils. She imparts character, and there is no more important public service than that. —San Bernardino Sun.

FAMILIAR POEMS

MAH-JONGG (I WIN)

(China's two-thousand-year-old domino game which has swept the Pacific Coast)

"I am brother to the 'winds' and sister to the 'flowers'."
What mean those weird and foolish cries,
Those exclamations of surprise;
Those eager calls that pierce the air
Above the solid bamboo square;
Those foreign words of "chow" and "pong"
Succeeded by the words "mah-jongg?"

Ah, the walls so jeffly reared,
Soon of bamboos will be cleared,
When the potent East decides
By which symbol he abides,
"Flowers" are sifted from the ruck—
Evidence alone of luck;
Loose tiles filling every space,
Then begins the mah-jongg race.
Honors, circles, crackers, "bams"—
Not omitting sundry damns—
Follow as the players strain
Early "clearances" to gain.
When the tile-rack has been weeded
Of the dominoes not needed,
Then from wall or in the square
Is acclaimed the winning pair.
Rises that triumphant song
Of the one who goes "mah-jongg;"
While the vanquished groan to see
East has "pinched" them viciously.

Life is fashioned much the same
As this fascinating game;
Skill and sapience come in play
But not always blaze the way.
For one's errors in the draw—
As with life's insistent law—
He must suffer for the past
When the balances are cast.
Plovers bear away the prize
Not vouchsafed the ultra-wise;
It is kismet! Catch the drift?
Mah-jongg eludes the swift.
—S. T. C.

MY SHADOW

I have a little shadow that goes in
And out with me,
And what can be the use of him is
More than I can see.
He is very, very like me from the heels up to the head;
And I see him jump before me when I jump into my bed.

The funniest thing about him is the way he liked to grow.
Not at all like proper children, which is always very slow;
For he sometimes shoots up taller,
Like an India-rubber ball,
And he sometimes gets so little that there's none of him at all.

He hasn't got a notion of how children
ought to play,
And can only make a fool of me in every sort of way.
He stays so close beside me, he's a coward, you can see;
I'd think it shame to stick to nurse
as that shadow sticks to me!

One morning, very early, before the sun was up,
I rose and found the shining dew on every buttercup;
But my lazy little shadow, like an arrant sleepy-head,
Had stayed at home behind me and was fast asleep in bed.
—Robert Louis Stevenson.

ODDS and ENDS

MORE MINING IN ALASKA

Wages in Alaska have almost been completely readjusted and as a result of this there is increased mining activity. The completion of the railroad through that country has been the means of easing up the labor market. While that work was under way it was almost impossible to get men to do any kind of labor as the railroad contractors made it so attractive that men flocked there from all over the territory. Now they must seek work in the mines and the result is that there is more mining under way at the present time than there has been at any time since the "boom."

California children are superior in height, weight and general physical condition to any other children in the United States, according to a report issued by the children's bureau of the United States Department of Labor. Well, why not. California is the best state in the Union, and must naturally have superior children.

Twelve thousand writers have told the world just what Shakespeare meant by his plays. What a relief it must be to William to understand himself at last.

You can't give your whole time to jazz music and spoof literature, and still have a serene and classic mind.

This is a poor time of year to be pessimistic about next fall's corn crop.

LITERAL

"How far have you studied, Johnny?" inquired the teacher.
"Just as far as the book is dirty, ma'am."

THE MAIN BEARING

"Are you sure you have shown me all the principal parts of this car?" asked the fair prospective purchaser.
"Yes, madam, all the main ones," replied the dealer.

"Well, then, where is the depreciation?" Tom told me that was one of the biggest things about a car.

"Is there anything you would like to do before I press the button?" said the warden of Sing Sing to the murderer in the electric chair.

"Yes, your honor," said the latter. "I would like to get up and give my seat to a lady."

F. H. Seeley, of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted truss expert, will personally be at the Avis Hotel, and will remain in Pomona Saturday only, February 24. Mr. Seeley says: "The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. This result effected during the day—the repair continues of itself throughout the night during sleep while all strain is removed. Being a vast advancement over all former methods—employing instantaneous effects immediately appreciable and withstanding any strain or position no matter the size or location. Large or difficult cases, or incisional ruptures (following operations) specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions. WARNING—All cases should be cautioned against the use of any elastic or web truss with understraps, as same rest where the lump is and not where the opening is, producing complications necessitating surgical operations. ETIWANDA

The nicest party that the Etivanda young people have held in months was the Colonial party given last Tuesday evening in the church basement. An entirely new social committee was in charge and received the credit for the success of the entertainment. Berthold Dugdale, Ethel Bilyeu, Mercedes Frost, Dorothy Smith and James Spray. The rooms were decorated with simplicity, braided rugs on the floor adding to the old-fashioned atmosphere. Many pretty costumes were in evidence, Miss Katherine Jones and Gerald Cour winning the laurels. The committee served apple pie a la mode. Several features of the entertainment were popular. Berthold Dugdale read an entertaining original story on the order of Peter Coddle and the guests supplied missing phrases. A dialogue, "No Good at Directing," by Oma Ross, who was asking the way, and Clyde Greenlee, the small boy, was very funny. The poem, "Miles Standish," was given by Berthold Dugdale. An instrumental sextette composed of Sylvanus Kemp, James Spray, Berthold Dugdale and the three Mueller boys furnished three appreciated musical numbers. The shadow play, "Dr. Jack and His Poor Patient," which completed the program, was the funniest ever. James Spray was the doctor who "operated" behind a curtain on Joshua Spray, with Miss Mercedes Frost as trained nurse in attendance. Apparently large quantities of foreign substances were removed by the aid of a saw and an axe, which "Dr. Jack" seemed to handle with great familiarity. The young people in attendance were: Dean Katherine Jones, Mrs. Nell Terrell, Flora Hoppe, Dorothy and Ruth Brownless, Margaret Beattie and Barbara Wentworth of Cucamonga, Evelyn Koch, Ethel Bilyeu, Dorothy Smith, Gertrude Greenlee, Mercedes Frost, Miriam Price, Frances Spence, Roberta Henderson, Marjorie and Pauline Tilden, Winifred Hickcox, Irene Scott, Gerald Cour, Oma Ross, Erwin Koch, Morris Frost, Ralph Price, Sylvanus Kemp, Donald, Elmer and Lawrence Mueller, James and Joshua Spray, Clyde Greenlee, and Berthold Dugdale.

Mrs. Johnson of Upland, who is at the present time Etivanda's popular piano teacher, gave one of her pleasing musical programs on Friday afternoon at the school building. The auditorium was well filled for the occasion, several Upland women being among the audience. Those of Mrs. Johnson's Upland pupils joined in the program, which was all excellent. The following numbers were given:

Piano Duet—Florence and Lillian Clewett of Upland.

Solo—March, Ellen Roe.

"The Bobolink," Florence Clewett.

"The Goblins' Midnight Procession," Billy Hutton.

"Tarantella," Gloria Foss.

"The Trapeze Performer," Lela Frost.

"The Pony Race," Josephine Wienberg of Upland.

Violin and Piano Duet by Miriam and Kathlene Price.

"Gavotte," Louise Henderson.

"The Tomboy," and (b) "Merry Gathering," Eleanor Frost.

"Etude Oriental," Lillian Clewett.

"Etude," Kathlene Price.

"The Cottontail," Marian Brownless.

(a) "Sonatina," and (b) "Playing in the Woods," Annie Mae Layton.

Violin Solo—Gloria Foss.

Piano Solo—Roberta Henderson.

(a) "Uncle Pete's Minuet," and (b) "Sunny Fields," Margaret Henderson.

Piano Duet—Florence and Lillian Clewett.

Prof. E. R. Johnston, who is here from New Jersey visiting his brother, Mr. George E. Johnston, and his sisters, Mrs. C. C. Brownless and Miss Catherine Johnston, was a speaker at assembly Friday morning at the Chaffey auditorium. His subject was "Conditions in Serbia." A number of Etivanda people went over to hear Professor Johnston, having heard a great deal about him. Since his arrival in California he has made a number of interesting talks about his work in New Jersey and in Serbia, where he served our government near the close of the great war.

Miss Mercedes Forst whistled and Mr. Ned Francis sang Friday evening at the Methodist Church of Ontario during a program given there.

Mr. Roland Jones is enjoying a trip to the state of Washington, where he went on business for the Guasti Company. He has been gone ten days.

Mrs. F. E. Rader of Upland was a welcome visitor at the Thomas Donnelly home Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Rena B. Francis spent Saturday in Los Angeles shopping.

Mrs. Lou Dooley left Sunday afternoon for Los Angeles to visit her cousins there for a week. She wished to go to the Illinois picnic on Monday and look up former friends.

Mrs. Philip Johnston and son are back from a trip to Los Vegas, where they had a delightful visit with Mrs. Johnston's parents.

Mr. Spencer Johnston got back Thursday from a business trip to Imperial Valley.

Mr. Alfred Phillips came back Monday from Brawley and will be in Etivanda three or four weeks between "lettuce season" and "cantaloupe season."

All of the young people of the Rev. C. W. Greenlee family had a turn at flu last week, fortunately all light cases.

Mrs. C. C. Brownless has been making steady gains this past week to the delight of her many friends.

The Etivanda and Fontana stations of the Pacific Electric Railway were entered by thieves Sunday night. Not much loot was secured in the local station by the robbers.

Mr. J. B. McNurlin purchased a home site at Magnolia Park, a suburb of Los Angeles, and will build and live there if he carries out his present intention. In his purchase he acquired half an acre of ground, his son, Guy McNurlin, of Long Beach, buying a like tract adjoining.

Friends of Mrs. G. E. Frost are sorry to learn that she has been ill for the past two weeks with appendicitis. Her youngest daughter is here with Mrs. Clara Tilden and Miss Nellie Fisher is looking after the older children.

Mr. Glen Shepherd has a new Fordson tractor.

Mr. Andrew Ingvaldsen has replaced his delivery truck with a new one of the same make, a "Vim."

Mr. W. H. Frost spent Thursday in Los Angeles.

One of the Larson children living on the Burbank ranch is reported to be ill with scarlet fever.

Radio programs, moving pictures and debates in open forum were the features planned last Sunday evening for the evening services of this year at the Etivanda church. The young people are taking a great in-

MARCH 2 LAST DAY OLD LICENSE GOOD

Unless later instructions are received from the State Motor Vehicle Department March 2 will be the last day on which autoists of San Bernardino County may drive their machines without a 1923 license plate, at was announced today by Chief of County Traffic Officers Jay Boone.

After that date the motorist who is not supplied with his new license plates will have to show proof that he has sent for the license plates or he will be cited to appear in court and if his excuse for not sending for the plates is not sufficient he will be forbidden to drive his machine until the licenses are obtained, Officer Boone said.

Many Have Applied

Last reports received by Mr. Boone from the Motor Vehicle Department were to the effect that approximately 861,000 motorists in the state had applied for their licenses. As close to 900,000 are expected to apply, it is apparent that nearly all have already applied.

Many licenses are being received daily. Where ten days ago the 1923 license plates were a curiosity in Upland, now the majority of machines are supplied with the new plates.

Will Enforce Law

The orders on new plates will be enforced rigidly this year, Boone said. The only excuse that will go when the plates are not displayed is the tag that will show the license has been applied for before March 2.

California is now the second state in the union for the number of motor vehicles. New York ranks first.

RALLYING FORCES

Republican leaders are much encouraged by the fact that the women's organizations are keeping up their interest and organizations in all parts of the country. Immediately after election most workers took their deserved rest and vacation, but everywhere they are now beginning to rally their forces in carefully planned and successfully executed round-ups and the women bid fair to be a tremendous force in the next campaign.

SOCIETY

VALENTINE PARTY

TUESDAY—
Mrs. David Bradfield was hostess last Tuesday to members of the Young Woman's Class of the Methodist Church, when she entertained with a delightful Valentine party at her home, 549 East Ninth Street.

The house was most artistic with bouquets of poinsettias and potted cyclamen, and the amusements provided were all favorite Valentine sports. Guessing games occupied the interest of the guests for some time, prizes being awarded to Mrs. Howard Engle for the guessing the most answers, and to Miss Jessie Brown for the least.

A wonderful Valentine Box with one for everyone gave much pleasure and the merry event closed with the serving of heart-shaped pastry and sandwiches, and candies.

Mrs. Bradfield was assisted in serving by Miss Lysie Merchant, and her guests were Mrs. Harold J. Stickney, Mrs. Bert C. Nichols, Mrs. Carl Nicholson, Mrs. Glenn Atwood, Mrs. Roy Bennett, Mrs. Paul Fetrow, Mrs. Howard Engle, Mrs. Ralph Marr, Mrs. E. C. Rosenberger, Mrs. Harold Dundas, Miss Selma Armstrong, Miss Jessie Brown, Miss Elizabeth Fossett, Miss Esther Anderson, Miss Ruth Crane, Miss Gladys Riley, Miss Florence Mehl, Miss Ruby Moser, Miss Harriet Riley, Miss Lela Farmer, Miss Merchant.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

Miss Hazel Speck was the guest of honor at a delightfully planned birthday surprise party last Wednesday evening, when her mother, Mrs. C. D. Speck, 428 Campus Avenue, invited several friends to a very jolly affair.

A few of the girls arrived at the Speck residence early in the evening as a "blind," and persuaded Miss Speck to walk up to the J. F. Anderson home, a few houses north of her own. On her arrival she was greeted by several young people, who wished her many happy returns of the day, and from whom she received many lovely gifts.

The Anderson house was prettily decorated with red and white hearts strung round the living and dining rooms, making an attractive background for the group of young people, who enjoyed the evening playing old-fashioned games.

At a late hour a most delicious birthday cake decorated with pink rose-buds and wee candles was served with ice cream and other dainties to the following guests: Miss Leona Lady, Miss Winona Anderson, Miss Gladys Petersen, Miss Pauline Hicks, Miss Avrie Belle Wilson, Miss Betty Anderson, Miss Hazel Speck, William Bowden, Harold Kennedy, Ralph Speck, Frederick Anderson, Thomas Hilberg, Harold Speck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson and little daughter, Marie, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Anderson, and Mrs. Speck.

DOWN AND OUT CLUB MEET AT AZULYK-IT

The Down and Out Club, members of which are past presidents of the Upland Woman's Club, held their usual social meeting at noon yesterday, when they enjoyed a delicious luncheon at The Azul-lyk-it. Owing to illness in so many families, only four members were present, Mrs. George Gregg, Mrs. R. C. Norton, Mrs. N. G. Pehl, and Mrs. John Rarick.

The Down and Out Club has no business session, and meet solely for an informal social time at luncheon once a month.

SHROVE TUESDAY SOCIAL

Guild members of St. Mark's parish and their friends enjoyed a very delightful and original party last Tuesday night at the Upland Hotel, kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. and Mrs. William Avery.

The choir, assisted by several others, gave an old-fashioned district singing school, each performer dressed in costume, some of which were most amusing, and all in keeping with the spirit of the affair.

Ivan Benner, as singing master, proved a keen source of enjoyment and Mrs. Benner sang a mournful song in such a realistic manner that she almost made people weep, which is a high mark of her artistic ability. Others on the district school program were: Judge O. N. Hilton, who delighted everyone with his recitations; Mrs. E. W. Elliott, who gave readings; and Dr. A. J. Colgan, who sang that old favorite, "Solomon, Levi," to the pleasure of everyone. The Men's Quartette also gave several selections, and the entire program was voted a great success.

The hospitality committee served "foss nuts" and maple syrup when refreshment time came, and local color was kept up in every detail during the evening's entertainment.

LUNCHEON AT THE SYCAMORES

Complimenting several Eastern guests, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Baeuerlen of Koster Court, were hosts at a delightful luncheon at The Sycamores last Tuesday, the guests of honor being Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hildebrand, who are leaving shortly for their home in Chicago, after a stay of several months in California.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Hildebrand, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wrightson of Fresno, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoffman of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Brackett of Chicago, Mrs. Anna Hughes and daughter, Miss Ella May Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Baeuerlen.

EAST END IMPROVEMENT CLUB MEETS

Members of the East End Improvement Club met last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Glover, on East Tenth Street, and held a short business meeting, continuing their efforts for the improvement of the east end of this district.

A petition was formed requesting delivery of mail from the Upland postoffice instead of Cucamonga, which was presented to Postmaster L. N. Kirk, who will forward it to Washington.

Another matter taken up was the continuation of East Tenth Street, and Messrs. Henry Livermore and Glover were appointed to confer with the supervisors on the matter. H. L. Jennings was appointed to see about a guide post to be placed at the corner of Ninth Street and Cucamonga Avenue.

After the business session a merry social hour was enjoyed, when games were played and the hostess served dainty refreshments.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Livermore, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Winter, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Strawn, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Dahlin, H. Bateman, William Beard, H. L. Jennings and two sons, Hugh McKinney and son.

DELIGHTFUL PARTY FOR BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Charles Latimer gave a very charming evening affair last night for Miss Gladys Rassbach at her home, 945 Euclid Avenue, Ontario, when a group of friends were invited to spend the evening in honor of Miss Rassbach's birthday.

The time passed swiftly in games and music, and a tempting supper was served at a late hour.

The invited guests included Miss Iva Smith, Miss Betty Henderson, Miss Mamie Pollock, Miss Marion Short, Miss Elma Greer, Miss Marion Hutton, Miss Lyla Shattuck, Miss Edith Gilbert, Miss Marion Claypoole, Miss Mary Beard, Miss Ruth Wilson, Merle Rash, Clifford Evans, Calvin Evans, Wilmer White, Arnold Vick, A. Bursell, Henry Rassbach, Rev. and Mrs. W. Earle Smith.

ONTARIO

Building Total Mounts

Issuance in the past two days by City Building Inspector O. S. Roen of permits representing an expenditure of more than $18,000 boosted Ontario's February building total to $47,500 and with nearly two weeks yet to go, the month promises to break former February records.

All five of the permits issued during the past two days were for new dwellings. E. A. Welch is to build a 5-room dwelling in West D street, at a cost of $3600; N. E. Scott, 6-room dwelling, 743 East D street, $4000; Dan Jones, 5-room frame dwelling in East H street, $3000; C. L. Bogart, 5-room residence in Nocta street, $3000; and W. K. Metz, 6-room dwelling in Bonnie Brae Court, $4500.

Annual G. A. R. Dinner

Eighty-five members of Ontario Post, Grand Army of the Republic and the Ontario Woman's Relief Corps sat down to chicken dinner yesterday noon at the Masonic Temple, it being the annual dinner with which the Corps members entertain the Post.

Following the menu, many of the veterans recited interesting experiences of war time and many told of incidents in the life of Abraham Lincoln, which they had personally observed.

There were a number of out of town visitors, including Mrs. Helen Cook, past State treasurer of the Relief Corps, who was here from Pomona and was one of the speakers. A number of the Corps members gave readings which added to the pleasure of the afternoon.

Snappy Games Scheduled

Manager W. D. Gautner announced today that the Ontario baseball team is to meet the team of the Wilmington Merchants on the Campus avenue lot Sunday and a good game is anticipated.

On Washington's Birthday a benefit game is to be staged with the locals and the team of the Pasadena American Legion playing. The proceeds are to go toward paying for the new fence around the ball park.

An event which is being looked forward to with much interest is the game scheduled for Feb. 25, when Manager Gautner's aggregation is to meet the Angels, the Los Angeles Coast League team, at the Ontario Park. The Angels are now in training at Elsinore and Frank Hanna of the Ontario club has just signed up with them. Faulkner, Ontario's big star pitcher, left this week for Detroit, where he will enter major league baseball. Ontario is turning out many ball stars.

"Red" Oldham is to occupy the box for the locals in the coming games.

Editor To Speak

His subject will deal with the lumber business and its growth.

USES MUCH TWINE

Enough twine to encircle the earth more than thirteen times is wanted by the postoffice department. Bids have been asked for 1,000,000 pounds of two-ply jute twine. This amount of twine is only a year's supply used by the department throughout the entire service. The twine is put up in balls weighing half a pound each; thus the order will consist of 2,000,000 balls. As each ball contains 300 yards, there will be 600,000,000 in the lot, or 340,900 miles of twine.

A bunch of Navelencia oranges was presented The News office this week by E. S. Bishop of Cucamonga, and many are the compliments received by those who have seen them here. Of course, it would be out of place for us to say they are better than anything grown here, but we must admit they are just as good.

DEPRECIATION IS SUBJECT OF TALK

By Rex B. Goodell

Many taxpayers apparently do not recognize the importance of keeping proper records or realize that same would be a saving to them in the future. It is also impossible for any person operating a ranch or any mercantile business to make a true statement for income tax purposes without keeping records and in the case of income received from orchards, the necessity of proper records is emphasized.

The revenue act of 1921 requires all persons receiving a gross income of $5000 or more to file an income tax return regardless of the amount of net income and of the personal exemption to which entitled. In the case of farmers, gross income is the amount of cash or value of merchandise received during the year. In determining net income, there are allowed all ordinary and necessary business expenses specified by section 214 of the revenue act of 1921, which would include, in the case of crop farmers, cost of seed, if purchased labor, taxes, interest, cost of small tools, and a reasonable allowance for depreciation on farm buildings, other than dwelling, occupied by owner, farm machinery, irrigating system, livestock acquired for work, breeding or dairy purposes. Depreciation on stock is not allowed where taxpayer reports on an inventory basis as this deduction will then be reflected in inventory. Orchardists are also entitled to charge as a business expense depreciation on trees. This depreciation (if trees are planted subsequent to March 1, 1913, is based upon the cost of the trees at the time of purchase, which includes cost of nursery, stock, cultivating, pruning, fumigating, labor, irrigation, in fact all expenses incurred, with the exception of taxes and interest up to the year in which trees became commercial bearing or reached income producing stage. During these years, while trees are being brought to maturity age, no deduction is allowed for depreciation of interest and taxes, all expenditures being capitalized to cost of grove for which depreciation is made.

IMPOSSIBILITIES

A little cloud climbed up the sky,
With purpose and intent,
To hide a shining silver moon.
Before its life was spent.

But all serene, the moon shone on
And soon the little cloud was gone.

A little trouble tried one day
To darken a glad heart,
To spread itself and grow so big
That all else must depart.

But happiness was there to stay
And so the trouble crept away.

Well Say!

You remember that last ad we wrote. Well the ding busted thing liked to have got us in bad.

We came "dang" near getting "churched" for it. But we convinced them that a Groceryman was excusable for his language. So they let us go after giving us a special invitation to attend Sunday School. Saying that if we didn't watch out we would soon be saying real "cuss" words.

One very dear old lady said, she was perfectly shocked to hear a young man who had such a nice store use such "offul" talk—especially when he had such a large family.

So we will have to be more careful in the future. But gosh, all hemlock, how that "ad" did work. Sold all our specials before noon, and we had "oodles" of them too.

Mr. Harn said that dod-gasted "ad" simply made him red-headed—and Sheneberger complains of gray hairs.

Nissley the deliveryman said, "guess the boss thinks I'm a pack horse or something."

So what the dickens can I do? The editor says, "you got to keep it up, if you expect to get business enough to pay the rent and buy some woodpecker seed and gasoline."

But "gee-whiz" we would hate to get "churched." So today we ain't going to say one darn-foozled word—only offer a few EXTRA SPECIALS.

COUNTY DELEGATES FAVOR GASOLINE TAX

Tax of one cent per gallon on gasoline will be favored by delegates from San Bernardino County to the annual meeting of the State Supervisors' Association in Sacramento, March 9, it was learned today.

The stand taken by representatives of the County Board of Supervisors who will attend the northern convention, expected to result in influencing important legislation now pending in the state legislature, will be that the sums realized from the proposed tax of gasoline should be evenly divided between the counties and the state.

"The attitude of the supervisors of this county as sounded at yesterday's meeting, was that the state and counties should each benefit by dividing the proceeds from the tax evenly," Chairman A. G. Kendall stated. "The entire sum should go to pay for the upkeep and paving of the state and county highway systems, according to my personal belief," he added.

Assemblyman Isaac Jones of Ontario was called into counsel by the board. He gave as his opinion that if the supervisors from all counties support a bill dividing the tax evenly, it would be passed. If the state receives more than half, the proposal will be defeated, he stated.

Aside from the important matter of the gasoline tax, complicated by the problem of agricultural exemptions granted to tractors and similar motor propelled machinery, the state supervisors' association will be called upon to reach an agreement regarding regulation of the motor trucks on the state highways. From indications now, it is regarded as probable that a limit of 22,000 pounds will be set on all loaded trucks.

Members of the board who will attend the meeting have not been announced. That at least three will be present appears likely. Chairman Kendall and C. E. Grier will be unable to attend.

POOR AUTO ROADS IN OLD MEXICO

General road conditions throughout the West for motorists have just been reported upon by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Hundreds of inquiries have been received at the club offices in regard to condition of highways leading to Mexico City and various points in Mexico from the United States. And the touring bureau quotes a report submitted by the American Consulate at Guaymas which says that it is not possible to reach Mexico City by automobile from any point along the border of Southern California, Arizona or New Mexico. It is possible, however, to drive to Mexico City by entering Mexico at Laredo, Texas. The trip over that route is not an inviting one, especially to those who are not familiar with the country. Taken as a whole, the report, which is on file at auto club offices, shows that Mexican roads at present are nothing to boast about.

The bulk of transcontinental travel coming to California over the National Old Trail road is favoring the extreme southern route via Tucson, Lordsburg and Deming to Mesilla Park, thence north via Socorro through Albuquerque. The roads will be passable between Albuquerque and Denver to Kansas the balance of the winter between storms. No trouble should be encountered in traveling over the Raton Pass, as the road has been recently improved.

The Midland Trail is passable from Southern California north via Mojave and the Owens River Valley to Big Pine and Bishop. It is not advisable to attempt to reach Salt Lake City at present over this route, nor will it be until better weather improves conditions in the mountain regions of Western Nevada and on the desert between Ely and Salt Lake City.

The Bankhead Highway from San Diego east is open between San Diego and El Centro and no rain has fallen in the Imperial Valley during the last few days. Motorists taking this route to Florida, says the Auto Club, should inquire at the El Paso Club to determine their routes across Texas.

The vertical posts shall be spaced eight feet center to center except where otherwise shown on the plans and shall be four feet, three inches in length, and extend nine inches into the concrete side wall of the culvert. The pipe railing shall consist of two horizontal pipe rails made of two inch galvanized pipe, spaced one foot, nine inches center to center, said pipe railing to be constructed true to line and painted with two coats of white lead paint.

Over the curbs, on both sides of the roadway, which are to be constructed between a point Fourteen Thousand Six Hundred Fifty feet south of the south line of Olive Avenue and a point Fifteen Thousand Ninety feet south of the south line of said Olive Avenue at the location shown on the plans, there shall be constructed on both sides of said roadway of said Hellman Avenue and extending from the gutter line of said roadway to the outer walls of said culvert, an eight inch thick reinforced concrete slab, said slab to be reinforced by one-half inch square twisted steel bars, two feet center to center, longitudinally, and one-half inch square twisted steel bars placed six inches center to center transversely, said slab to be twenty feet long and six feet, eight inches wide.

(5) Between a point Seventeen Thousand Six Hundred Forty-five (17,645) feet south of the south line of Olive Avenue and a point Twenty-five feet (17,725) south of the south line of said Olive Avenue and on each side of the roadway of said Hellman Avenue, shall be constructed a cement concrete Toe Wall, said Toe Wall to be eight inches thick on top, fourteen inches wide on the bottom and 32 inches high; the grade of the bottom of said Toe Wall shall be 32 inches below and parallel to a line which is four inches below the gutter line grade between the points above mentioned.

Pretty Valentine Party

Little Miss Luella Whitney was the pleasing young hostess on Tuesday evening when she entertained her school mates of the fifth and sixth grades of Central school, numbering some twenty or more, with a valentine party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Whitney on San Bernardino avenue. Assisting Mrs. Whitney in the arrangement of amusing games for the young people, were Miss Maxine Miller and Miss Florence Corlett, teachers at Central school. Jolly games of "Hearts" and other amusements featured a delightful hour or two for the little guests. Prizes awarded to winners in the game were in shape of candy hearts. Favors, also, were candy hearts, ever dear to the heart of childhood. Delicious refreshments, carried out in the dainty heart motif, were served as the evening waned for the youngsters, who departed vowing never before such a good time and wishing St. Valentine's Day arrived more than once a year.

Former Cucamonga Pastor Answers Last Call

Frederick Miller, pastor of Methodist churches in and around Los Angeles for the past thirty-six years, and a one-time pastor of the Cucamonga Methodist church, passed to his reward last Tuesday morning at the home of his son, Jesse Ray Miller, in Los Angeles, after an illness of only ten days. Up to the time of his last illness, Dr. Miller was the active pastor of the Westland Methodist church in Los Angeles. He was born in Archbold, Ohio, in 1853, and was educated at Defiance College, graduating later from Ohio Wesleyan. He was widely known throughout Southern California for the many charitable organizations with which he has been affiliated, and also, as one of the founders of the campaign for State prohibition organized twelve years ago. Rev. Miller is well remembered here in Cucamonga, having served the community as pastor of the local Methodist church for several some ten years ago, and still numbers his friends by the score who will grieve to hear of his passing. He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, Margaret Elizabeth Miller, of 1019 East 28th St. Los Angeles, where the couple have made their home for the past nine years, and three children, Mrs. Maud Miller Gallantine, Paul Bert Miller and Jesse Ray Miller, all of Los Angeles. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at St. James Methodist church, 22nd street, and Union avenue, Los Angeles.

Scout Leaders In Annual Banquet

The Chaffey Boys and Girls' organization held their annual banquet, Jubilee and business meeting, with election of officers, on Thursday evening at the Chaffey High School cafeteria. Among local leaders in the boys' work attending were Messrs M. W. Davenport, A. C. Beattie and Hugh Crawford, of Alta Loma.

Miss Helen Todd Complimented

Miss Helen Todd whose birthday anniversary falls on Valentine Day was the complimented guest at a surprise dinner given for her when Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberds entertained last Wednesday evening at their charming home on Amethyst avenue with a family dinner party.

The table was decorated with Valentine motifs and a delicious turkey, proved the piece de resistance. Covers were laid for Miss Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Todd of Los Angeles, Miss Cora Maleitvka of Upland, Homer and Marjorie Bonillas, Harvey and Marie Axley.

Following the dinner dancing and cards were the amusements of the evening.

Miss Grace Hoskins, principal of Alta Loma school, returned to her desk Wednesday, after an absence of over two week with the la grippe.

W. H. Rupp and daughter, Miss Mary-Belle are both convalescing after severe attacks of the grippe.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Todd motored out from Los Angeles Wednesday for a visit at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Roberds.

Cucamongans are expecting to turn out in force to the Orange Show, weather permitting, which opens Feb. 16th and closes the 26th.

Mrs. A. G. Markham, after an enjoyable visit lasting several days at the new home of her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Kimball, in Hollywood, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Kimball home from Los Angeles, Saturday evening. With them came Miss Hazel Meade and Miss Maude Markham, who were

Engagement Told

The Mission Inn at Riverside furnished the setting Wednesday evening for a St. Valentine's dinner of smart appointments at which Mrs. Charles E. White announced the engagement and approaching marriage of her charming daughter, Miss Sibyl White, to Alexander Garrett McCrea of Ontario and San Bernardino.

Centering the dinner table was a graceful basket of lovely red roses, while numerous hearts in red and silver carried out the Valentine motif with artistic effect.

Dinner was announced at 7 o'clock and was served in six courses, the interesting announcement being told in "Valentine Mail," which was distributed to the guests during the salad course.

Covers at the dinner table were marked for Mrs. Charles E. White, Mr. and Mrs. George Arthur McCrea, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holmes Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Leeson, Miss Sibyl White, Miss Alta McCrea, Miss Ardis Richardson, Miss Lois Campbell, Alexander McCrea, Byron Campbell, Cecil Dyke and Perry Hopkins, all of Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wayne Burns of Riverside; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Glover, of Los Angeles; Miss Georgina Anderson, of Covina, and William Seline, of San Bernardino.

Dancing in the cloister followed the menu.

The bride-elect is a young woman of more than ordinary charm and beauty, and is vastly popular in the younger society set of Ontario, having come here from Monticello, Minn., some twelve years ago.

Mr. McCrea is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Arthur McCrea, 803 North Euclid Avenue. He has spent the greater part of his life in Ontario and has hosts of friends here. He is now in business in San Bernardino, where he will take his bride to live following the ceremony, the date of which has not yet been definitely announced.

Club Party Enjoyed

Mrs. Geoffrey Joseph Fleming, present head of the Current Events Club, and past presidents of the organization, were hostesses Tuesday afternoon at a Valentine party at the club house in West B Street.

Mrs. Jacob Jesson was chairman of the committee in charge of the event, and others in the receiving line included the past presidents and their representatives, numbering Miss house-guests over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rolland McKennett.

Misses Marian Belden, Maria Caldwell and Elizabeth Allen, teachers at Alta Loma school, returned Sunday evening after a pleasant week-end outing spent at Hermosa Beach.

Mrs. Robert McKennett, who has been spending several weeks visiting the ranch-home of her son, Rolland McKennett and family, returned to her home in Los Angeles Sunday evening.

Miss Bessie Stipe is expected home from Redondo Beach Friday for the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stipe. They are planning to take in the Orange Show on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Fleet and family are enjoying all the "comforts of home" to be found in driving their new seven passenger Paige Sedan.

An item of interest regarding the famous Frenchman, M. Emile Coue, has been noted in a copy of the Ohio State Journal, which stated that when lecturing at Columbus, M. Coue, who has become noted over the entire world because of his belief and practice in auto-suggestion and whose phrase "Day by day in every way, I am getting better and better" has almost become a by-word, was greeted in French on the Majestic Theater stage by George F. Grand-Girard, wholesale druggist of Circleville, O., and joy in the heart of M. Emile Coue was reflected in his face when he learned that the Circleville man's father was the Rev. Emile F. Grand-Girard, who was born in a little village near Nancy, France, and as a druggist there, was one of M. Coue's friends. Thought of the "little druggist" as a family friend of a man well known in Columbus, makes easier the fulfillment of Mr. Coue's request that people regard him as just an ordinary man. "I am not a hero," he insisted in his lecture. "I am not an extra-ordinary man and I do not do extra-ordinary things." This is of interest locally because of the relationship existing between Cucamonga people, the E. S. Bishops, and Mr. Grand-Girard, who is an uncle of Mrs. Bishop, Grand-Girard being her maiden name.

A large number of local members of the Red Hill Country Club of the feminine persuasion, are attending the second Ladies' Day Tournament to be played today, Friday, on the Red Hill Golf-Course. The tournament will be a two-ball, 18-hole, mixed foursome, starting at 1 o'clock. Members are expected to select their own foursomes. Luncheon or tea was served at the "Sycamores" adjoining the meadows.

Aurelia Harwood, Mrs. Archibald T. Hamilton, Mrs. Amy M. Hutton, Mrs. W. John Campbell, Mrs. John A. Fallis, Mrs. Samuel H. Gardner and Mrs. Fleming.

Mrs. Ralph Myers was in charge of the afternoon's program, which was featured by a number entitled the "Down and Out Club," in which the various past presidents recited amusing incidents of their respective terms of office.

Harp solos by Signor Salvatore De Nufrio; vocal selections by Miss Vera Wells, contralto, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Wright; whistling numbers by Miss Mamie Pollock, and readings by Mrs. Myers, added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Toward the afternoon's close, a collation was dispensed under the direction of Mrs. R. A. Archibald.

Sordid Case

Details of what promises to be one of the most sordid cases in the annals of the Ontario police court are to be recited before Judge George R. Holbrook at the preliminary examination of John Hernandez and Mrs. Lydia Ross on Feb. 27, it was announced yesterday.

Hernandez and Mrs. Ross are now under arrest on complaint of Mrs. Della Chase, the former being charged with a statutory offense against Ethel Davis, 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. Chase, and Mrs. Ross, who is an aunt of the girl, with contributing to her delinquency.

The arrest of Hernandez and the Ross woman followed an investigation by Juvenile Officers Edwards and Mathieson of Los Angeles, and the complaint recites that the offense against the young girl was committed in an Ontario hotel on or about Jan. 1, 1923. The girl is now reported in a critical condition at the Los Angeles County Hospital.

According to the story revealed in the complaint, the girl, who had just arrived in Southern California from Idaho, went to Pacoima to visit her aunt, Mrs. Ross, who is said to have been living with Hernandez and posing as his wife. On New Years Day Hernandez and Mrs. Ross, accompanied by the girl, went to Claremont to visit Hernandez' mother.

When night came and it was found that there was no room at the Claremont home for the three to remain, they came to Ontario and, going to a Euclid Avenue hotel, it is said, registered as "John Hernandez and family," all occupying one bed.

It was on this occasion that the girl is alleged to have been attacked by the Mexican, to whose advances she is said to have been encouraged to submit by her aunt. Hernandez and the Ross woman were taken to the county jail in San Bernardino by Chief of Police W. O. Hardy yesterday.

On a cold winter Sunday, the preacher should never say much about hell fire to the old rheumatic sinners.

AN ERROR WHICH SCORED

Wee Willie Keeler, one of the old Baltimore "Orioles," who has been signed up forever on Time's batting list, was famous for being able to wait gentle but well-placed base hits to all parts of the lot without apparent effort. He is also notable for having phrased the world's best batting formula: "Hit 'em where they ain't."

We hold no brief for bad grammar, but we doubt whether the statement would have become immortal if Keeler had said: "My theory of batting is to hit the ball to a point where there are no fielders," or even: "Hit them where they are not."

I enjoyed this work greatly and would have liked to continue, but after the Red Cross came I decided to return to the college at Smyrna for whatever work I could find.

I found Smyrna calm and peaceful, in strange contrast to the scene four months ago, when the college campus and buildings were crowded with two thousand refugees and a battle was being waged just without the college walls between the Turks and the retreating Greek army. Miss Way, of Whittier, could tell you all about that. Right here I want to say that "Miss Way" has won the respect of everyone who worked with her those trying days. She was the last woman to leave the college and then only because she was practically forced to.

I am glad I am here, although I do get terribly homesick and lonely for the families that formerly lived on the campus. There were about fifteen youngsters that used to lead us fellows a lively and interesting time. They have all gone to America. But, as I say, I am glad to be here on the grounds where the "damage" was done. I have been rather surprised and have been forced to admit that there are two sides to the "question." Greek prisoners have told me that their army committed atrocities that were a disgrace to their nation. According to undeniable evidence the Greek army in retreat burned nearly every city and village they came upon, besides they looted, destroyed and killed. Most people in America have been prevented from knowing this and if anyone says anything about it, he the history of the Venizelos house, he made the final remark that he hoped order would soon be restored in Boudja, that he did not want fire and massacre there. I accompanied him to the big gate, where a big red automobile was waiting for him. He drove off amid the enthusiastic cheers of the Turkish populace that had gathered as soon as they heard that Kemal had come to town.

A few of the men who had come in for protection were not. One young fellow, the only one other than my interpreter who could speak English, kept making remarks such as: "Perhaps we'll all be killed." I didn't have the least sympathy for such talk, and when one night he suggested, "Perhaps the Turks will come tonight," I said: "I think so, in which case I have a horse saddled ready for you to make a flying trip to Paradise for help." He was scared stiff and said: "No, no, Mr. Moremen; please, not me."

I might tell you a great many stories about those uncertain days and nights; about the fire that occurred right across the street, about the crazy man, about the Turkish soldier who ordered me to give him my shoes in exchange for his; but I pass on.

Finally, through the efforts of Dr. Reed and others of the College, the opportunity came to get all the orphans off to safety in Saloniki. We were told to be ready to leave on the morning of the twenty-first. I wish you might have seen those brave happy children make preparation for the departure. At five a.m. on the morning named, the long, silent procession set out for the railroad station, where a special was waiting to take them to the pier where the U.S.S. Litchfield took them aboard immediately. I was asked by the college to go to Saloniki with them to arrange for their location and care.

I'll not go into details about the arrangements made for the orphans, excepting to say that a revolution was in progress shortly after our arrival, therefore it was difficult to get authoritative attention from the government. Finally, however, they were placed in government institutions in the cities of Serres and Drama in Northern Macedonia.

My responsibility ended in this work, I then turned my attention toward relief work, which had grown so tremendously in Greece. After the first twenty thousand came to Saloniki, the people said: "We can't take any more," but they kept coming just the same, ten to twenty thousand a day until there were over two hundred thousand in the vicinity. Besides the Asia Minor refugees, this city got most of the Thracian refugees also.

There were several large refugee camps in Saloniki. I was given the privilege of taking charge of any camp I wished. I chose, therefore, the dirtiest, the largest and the most needy. I thought the committee would back down, thinking it too big a proposition to tackle with the limited amount of money and supplies available; but they didn't. The members of this committee were: the American Consul, Mr. Morriss; Col. Jarvis, of the British Army; Major Saunders, of the League of Nations and representative of Col. Haskell, and Mr. Amoss, Red Cross representative in Macedonia, also Secretary of the Macedonia Y. M. C. A. At the end of a month and a half the following was accomplished:

A milk kitchen for babies and undernourished mothers, a baby welfare station with trained nurses in attendance, an eye clinic, a general clinic, a dispensary, three consulting and examining rooms, doctors and nurses in attendance, a barrack hospital, another large hospital under repair, equipment already secured (some of the beds and all of the mattresses bought with your money), a bathroom with seven tubs large enough to bathe twenty at a time, a soup kitchen with fourteen immense boilers, a dining room for underfed children. Besides this, the camp was drained and cleaned, the barracks were white-washed inside and out. In order to get rid of the typhus-bearing lice we compelled every person in camp to take a bath, have his clothes deloused and his hair cut. It was hard work sometimes to get people to take a bath. One old woman yielded only after great persuasion, then remarked: "Alright, I'll do it this time; but never again as long as I live." She said the truth for she died in a few days.

I enjoyed this work greatly and would have liked to continue, but after the Red Cross came I decided to return to the college at Smyrna for whatever work I could find.

I found Smyrna calm and peaceful, in strange contrast to the scene four months ago, when the college campus and buildings were crowded with two thousand refugees and a battle was being waged just without the college walls between the Turks and the retreating Greek army. Miss Way, of Whittier, could tell you all about that. Right here I want to say that "Miss Way" has won the respect of everyone who worked with her those trying days. She was the last woman to leave the college and then only because she was practically forced to.

I am glad I am here, although I do get terribly homesick and lonely for the families that formerly lived on the campus. There were about fifteen youngsters that used to lead us fellows a lively and interesting time. They have all gone to America. But, as I say, I am glad to be here on the grounds where the "damage" was done. I have been rather surprised and have been forced to admit that there are two sides to the "question." Greek prisoners have told me that their army committed atrocities that were a disgrace to their nation. According to undeniable evidence the Greek army in retreat burned nearly every city and village they came upon, besides they looted, destroyed and killed. Most people in America have been prevented from knowing this and if anyone says anything about it, he is accused of being pro-Turk. But we must be fair.

There is hope for Turkey, but it will take men of courage, men of faith and love who will be willing to help her toward the realization of the higher things. She has tremendous possibilities for evil if no one will attempt to understand her and guide her. Likewise, tremendous possibilities for good if rightly guided. If America would concentrate educational, economic and religious forces in Turkey, I believe we would see a new Turkey out of these days. Our college had recently opened. We have about fifty students eager for an education. Once a week another instructor and myself go some ten or fifteen miles into the interior to give English lessons to a group of aviation officers. We have been very much impressed by the type of men we have found there; neat appearing, gentlemanly, alert.

I am enclosing an order from the Turkish court to appear before that body on January 17th, as witness in an automobile accident that occurred three weeks ago, when one of the college professors was driving. This is a very interesting summons owing to the fact that the matter of capitulations is still under discussion at Lausanne. We attended the court and were acquitted.

I expect to start home about July, stopping probably for short visits in Switzerland, France and England. But it is home that I would be in that beautiful big country across the rolling seas, where the air is full of sunshine and the flag is full of stars.

With love and gratitude to all my friends, I remain,

Ever yours,

RAYMOND MOREMEN.

P.S.—I wonder if the communities would be interested in receiving letters from Turkish young men and women, seeking to express the attitude of the younger generation toward the future of Turkey. I really believe a great service could be done in bringing about in this way a better understanding and sympathy between America and Turkey. I have suggested this idea to several of the leaders of Moslem work here, who have been enthusiastic about it. They have suggested the possibility of co-operating with the government at Angora on the proposition and inaugurating a country-wide essay contest, giving prizes to three men and three women that have the best essays.—R. Paradise, Smyrna, January 21, 1923.

T. Raymond Moremen, Esq., Paradise, Smyrna.

My Dear Moremen,—As you are writing to the friends in Upland and Ontario who so promptly and generously sent you funds in response to your cable after the capture of Smyrna, I want to send you a word about the part of the money you were good enough to entrust to me.

Early in October I interested myself in the condition of prisoners of war, Turkish prisoners both civil and military in Greece, and the thousands of prisoners, also both civil and military in Turkey. I found that practically nothing was being done to facilitate their interchange of letters and funds. Taking this matter up with the Red Cross Society in Athens, the Red Crescent Societies, in Constantinople and Smyrna, the efficient Y. M. C. A.'s in Athens and Constantinople, and the Disaster Relief Committee, of which I was a member in Smyrna, I was able to secure the interest of all, get hundreds of letters started on their way, and a means organized whereby since then thousands of drachmas and liras have been sent from friends to prisoners on the other side. So important has this work now become that the Y. M. C. A. is taking it up on a large scale, our Professor Birge has been loaned to head it up, and several Americans will give most of their time to it. The start I was able to make in this direction in securing the attention of these other organizations was financed for a small sum by your fund, and as in other instances, the prompt arrival of this gift made possible work which a larger sum later on might not have accomplished. Please pass this word on with my hearty thanks to those whose gifts made it possible.

You have also made it possible for us to send clothing and money to some twenty of our college students who are held as prisoners of war in Magnesia, some forty miles in the interior. These are young men, most of them with stories which would read like fiction, who after many vicissitudes were accepted as students in St. Paul's Institute Tarsus, and from them transferred to us after the Cilicia evacuation of December, 1921. They are prisoners simply because they are of military age. Your gifts have made it almost certain that they will survive their hard experience and "in as much as ye have done it unto these least, ye have done it unto me" we can hear the Christ of agony saying to those whose giving made possible this kindness. Again I ask you to pass on to your friends, their thanks and my own.

Very sincerely yours,
CASS ARTHUR REED

GALAHAD IN THE GUTTER

The New York gangster, dying in the hospital from three bullet wounds, turns aside the questioning of the police with the reply of his kind: "I ain't tellin' who did it." The priest comes on his final visit and goes his way. And with his dying breath the gangster gasps his refrain: "I ain't tellin'."

Here is the code of a Galahad in the breast of an Apache; here is stern heroism gone to sheer waste.

The time will come when we shall find a way to put this precious asset of moral strength to uses higher than those of a gangster.
